17	eligibility of a claimant, or whether any disqualification should be imposed, or
18	benefits denied or adjusted pursuant to G.S. 96-18, the matter shall be referred
19	to an adjudicator. The adjudicator may consider any matter, document or
20	statement deemed to be pertinent to the issues, including telephone
21	conversations, and after such consideration shall render a conclusion as to the
22	claimant's benefit entitlements. The adjudicator shall notify the claimant and all
23	other interested parties of the conclusion reached. The conclusion of the 24	adjudicator shall be deemed the final decision of the Division unless within 30

50	An employer shall receive written notice of the employer's appeal rights and 51	any forms that are required to allow the employer to protest the claim. The

	PART IV. FEDERAL CONFORMING CHANGES
6 7	SECTION 4.(a) G.S. 96-11.7 reads as rewritten:
8
9	<ul> <li>(a) Mandatory Transfer. — Acquisition of a Business. — When an employer acquires all of</li> </ul>
10	the organization, trade, or business of another employer, the account of the predecessor must be
11	transferred as of the date of the acquisition to the successor employer for use in the determination
12	of the successor's contribution rate. This mandatory transfer subsection does not apply when there
13	is no common ownership between the predecessor and the successor and the successor acquired
14	the assets of the predecessor in a sale in bankruptcy. In this circumstance, the successor's
15	contribution rate is determined without regard to the predecessor's contribution rate.
16	(b) Consent. — Acquisition of Portion of a Business. — When a distinct and severable
17	portion of an employer's organization, trade, or business is transferred to a successor employer and
18	the successor employer continues to operate the acquired organization, trade, or business, the
19	portion of the account of the transferring employer that related attributable to the transferred
20	business may, with the approval of the Division, be transferred by mutual consent from the 21	transferring employer to the successor employer. employer as of the date of the transfer. A
22	successor employer that is a related entity of the transferring employer is eligible for a transfer
23	from the transferring employer's account only to the extent permitted by rules adopted by the 24	Division. No transfer may be made to the account of an employer that has ceased to be an
25	employer under G.S. 96-11.9.
26	If a transfer of part or all of an account is allowed but is not mandatory, under this subsection,
27	the successor employer requesting the transfer may make a request for transfer by filing an
28	application for transfer with the Division within two years after the date the business was
29	transferred or the date of notification by the Division of the right to request an account transfer,
30	whichever is later. If the application is approved and the application was filed within 60 days after
31	notification from the Division of the right to request a transfer, the transfer is effective as of the
32	date the business was transferred. If the application is approved and the application was filed later
33	than 60 days after notification from the Division, the effective date of the transfer is the first day
34	of the calendar quarter in which the application was filed. transferred.
35	If the effective date of a transfer of an account under this subsection is after the computation
36	date in a calendar year, the Division must recalculate the contribution rate for the transferring
37	employer and the successor employer based on their account balances on the effective date of the
38	account transfer. The recalculated contribution rate applies for the calendar year beginning after
39	the computation date.
40	(c) Continuity of Control. – Any new employer that has continuity of control with an
41	existing business enterprise shall continue to be the same employer as the existing business
42	enterprise for the purposes of this Chapter as before the existence of the new employer. The
42 43	Division shall assign any new employer with continuity of control to the account of the existing
43 44	business enterprise. Any new employer with continuity of control shall not request or maintain an 44 45
45 46	account with the Division other than the account of the existing business enterprise. If a new
40 47	employer receives a new account and the Division subsequently finds that such new employer has continuity of control with an existing business enterprise, the Division shall recalculate the annual 48 40	tax rates based on the combined annual account balances of the new employer and the existing
49 50	business enterprise. Acquisition by Related Party. – If an employer transfers its business, or a portion thereof, to another person and at the time of the transfer, there is substantially common
50 51	portion thereof, to another person and, at the time of the transfer, there is substantially common ownership, management, or control of the predecessor employer and the transferee, then the portion of the account attributable to the transferred business must be transferred to the transferee 1 2 as of the date of the transfer. 3 Continuity of control Substantially common ownership, management, or control exists if one 4 or more persons, entities, or other organizations owning, managing, or controlling the business 5 enterprise remain in ownership, management, or control of the new employer. transferee. Control may occur by means of ownership of the organization conducting the business enterprise, 6 7 business, ownership of assets necessary to conduct the business enterprise, business, security 8 arrangements or lease arrangements covering assets necessary to conduct the business enterprise, 9 business, or a contract when the ownership, stated arrangements, or contract provide for or allow 10 direction of the internal affairs or conduct of the business enterprise. business. Control is not 11 affected by changes in the form of a business enterprise, business, reorganization of a business 12 enterprise, business, or expansion of a business enterprise. business. 13 Acquisition to Obtain Lower Contribution Rate. - The account of the predecessor (c1)14 employer will not be transferred if the Division finds that a person acquired the business solely or 15 primarily for the purpose of obtaining a lower contribution rate. Contribution Rate. - Notwithstanding the other provisions in this section, when an 16 (d) 17 account is transferred in its entirety to a successor employer, the transferring employer's 18 contribution rate is the standard beginning rate. If the effective date of a transfer of an account 19 under this section is after the computation date in a calendar year, the Division must recalculate 20 the contribution rate for the transferring employer and the transferee based on their account 21 balances on the effective date of the account transfer. Notwithstanding the other provisions in this section, if a successor employer to whom an 22 23 account is transferred was an employer as of the date of the business transfer, the account transfer 24 does not affect the successor employer's contribution rate for the calendar year in which the 25 business was transferred. If the successor employer was not an employer as of the date of the 26 business transfer, the successor employer's contribution rate for the year in which the business 27 transfer occurs is the standard beginning rate unless one of the following applies: The account transfer is a mandatory transfer, in which case the contribution rate 28 (1)29 of the successor employer is the contribution rate of the transferring employer. 30 (2)The account transfer is by consent and the successor employer filed an 31 application within 60 days of the business transfer, in which case the 32 contribution rate of the successor employer is the contribution rate of the 33 transferring employer. If the business was transferred from more than one 34 employer and the transferring employers had different contribution rates, the 35 contribution rate of the successor employer is the rate calculated as of the 36 effective date of the account transfers. 37 (e) Liability for Contributions. – An employer that, by operation of law, purchase, or 38 otherwise is the successor to an employer liable for contributions becomes liable for contributions 39 on the day of the succession. This provision subsection does not affect the successor's liability as 40 otherwise prescribed by law for unpaid contributions due from the predecessor. 41 Deceased or Insolvent Employer. - When the organization, trade, or business of a (f) 42 deceased person or of an insolvent debtor is taken over and operated by an administrator, executor, 43 receiver, or trustee in bankruptcy, the new employer automatically succeeds to the account and 44 contribution rate of the deceased person or insolvent debtor without the necessity of filing an 45 application for the transfer of the account. 46 (g) Continuation of Existing Account. - Any transferee with substantially common ownership, management, or control of an existing business must not request or maintain an 47 48 account with the Division other than the account of the existing business. If a transferee receives a 49 new account and the Division subsequently finds that such new employer has substantially 50 common ownership, management, or control with an existing business, the Division must

- 1 recalculate the annual tax rates based on the combined annual account balances of the new 2 3 employer and the existing business."
